

Sources

All sources were opened and checked on 8 October 2026. Laws and guidance change. Check them again before you rely on any statement in this pack.

This is not legal advice.

"Official" means the text comes from the law-maker, the regulator or the standards body.

"Secondary" means a law-firm or news summary. We used these only for facts we could not open in an official source, and we say so wherever we rely on them.

European Union: AI Act

| ID    | Source                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Type                                | What we used it for                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| EU-1  | Regulation (EU) 2024/1689 (Artificial Intelligence Act), EUR-Lex                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Official                            | The legal text: Articles 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 50, 99, 111 and 113, and Annex III.                                                                                                                            |
| EU-2  | AI Act Service Desk: article pages, European Commission . The pages we used were Art. 2 , Art. 3 , Art. 4 , Art. 5 , Art. 50 , Art. 111 , Art. 113 and Annex III | Official                            | The wording of each article. These pages follow the EUR-Lex consolidated text dated 27 July 2026, so they include the Digital Omnibus changes, which are marked "NEW" or "AMENDED".                    |
| EU-3  | Regulation (EU) 2026/1744 (Digital Omnibus on AI), EUR-Lex                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | Official                            | The act is dated 8 July 2026, and EUR-Lex gives its entry into force as 27 July 2026. It amends the AI Act.                                                                                            |
| EU-4  | Council press release, 7 May 2026: "Council and Parliament agree to simplify and streamline rules"                                                                                                                                                                                               | Official                            | The provisional agreement on the Omnibus. It fixed the new high-risk dates and shortened the grace period for marking AI-generated content to 2 December 2026.                                         |
| EU-5  | Guidelines on transparency obligations for providers and deployers of AI systems (Article 50), European Commission, published 20 July 2026                                                                                                                                                       | Official guidance (not binding law) | How Article 50 is meant to be applied.                                                                                                                                                                 |
| EU-6  | Q&amp;A: Transparency obligations under Article 50 of the AI Act, European Commission (last updated 24 July 2026)                                                                                                                                                                                | Official guidance                   | The four criteria for "interacting directly", the narrow reading of "obvious", the start date, the grace period to 2 December 2026, and the fines (up to EUR 15 million or 3% of turnover).            |
| EU-7  | Code of Practice on Transparency of AI-generated Content, European Commission (final version 10 June 2026)                                                                                                                                                                                       | Official, voluntary                 | It covers Article 50(2), (4) and (5). The Commission and the AI Board assessed it as adequate.                                                                                                         |
| EU-8  | Travers Smith, "Is it a bot? EU AI Act transparency rules take effect 2 August 2026" (28 July 2026)                                                                                                                                                                                              | Secondary                           | Its summary of the final guidelines. It gives helpdesk chatbots as an example of a case where the AI is not "obvious", says "if in doubt, disclose", and covers marking duties along the supply chain. |
| EU-9  | Faegre Drinker, "Commission confirms transparency Code of Practice as adequate and publishes final version of its guidelines" (30 July 2026)                                                                                                                                                     | Secondary                           | Its summary of what the guidelines say about AI agents: an agent must say that it is an AI and on whose behalf it acts, and a generic "assistant" label is not enough.                                 |
| EU-10 | Cuatrecasas, "Digital Omnibus on AI has been published"                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Secondary                           | The Official Journal publication date of the Omnibus (24 July 2026).                                                                                                                                   |

United States: NIST

| ID     | Source                                                                                                  | Type     | What we used it for                                                                                                                                 |
|--------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| NIST-1 | NIST AI Risk Management Framework (AI RMF 1.0, NIST AI 100-1, released 26 January 2023) | Official | The Govern, Map, Measure and Manage functions and their categories. The NIST page (updated 13 August 2026) says that AI RMF 1.0 "is being revised". |
| NIST-  | NIST AI 600-1, Generative AI Profile                                                    | Official | The list of 12 generative-AI risks that we use to tag the                                                                                           |

|        |                                      |          |                                         |
|--------|--------------------------------------|----------|-----------------------------------------|
| 2      | (26 July 2024)       |          | risk register.                          |
| NIST-3 | NIST AI RMF Playbook | Official | Suggested actions for each subcategory. |

United Arab Emirates

| ID     | Source                                                                                                                                             | Type      | What we used it for                                                                                                                                                                                |
|--------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| UAE-1  | Federal Decree-Law No. 45 of 2021 on the Protection of Personal Data, UAE Legislation portal                                       | Official  | The articles of the law. It was issued on 20 September 2021 and took effect on 2 January 2022. The Arabic text prevails over the English one.                                                      |
| UAE-2  | UAE government portal: data protection laws (updated 4 December 2025)                                                              | Official  | An overview of the law and of the UAE Data Office.                                                                                                                                                 |
| UAE-3  | Al Tamimi &amp; Co., "UAE establishes new federal authority for AI and data" (edited 1 September 2026)                             | Secondary | The new Artificial Intelligence and Data Authority, announced on 14 June 2026, absorbs the UAE Data Office. The PDPL Executive Regulations had still not been issued when the article was written. |
| UAE-4  | Ashurst Perkins Coie, "Data Bytes 67" (July 2026)                                                                                  | Secondary | A second source saying the Executive Regulations "remain pending". It also covers the July 2025 DIFC amendments, which add a private right of action.                                              |
| DIFC-1 | DIFC Data Protection Law No. 5 of 2020, DIFC legal database                                                                        | Official  | The law and its Data Protection Regulations, including Regulation 10.                                                                                                                              |
| DIFC-2 | Clyde &amp; Co, "DIFC enacts landmark regulation for autonomous and semi-autonomous systems" (September 2023)                      | Secondary | Regulation 10 has been in force since 1 September 2023. The article also describes its notice and register requirements.                                                                           |
| DIFC-3 | Mayer Brown, "AI regulation in the DIFC: personal data processed through autonomous and semi-autonomous systems" (19 January 2026) | Secondary | The roles of deployer and operator, the high-risk processing conditions, the Autonomous Systems Officer, and the fact that certification is "expected in 2026".                                    |

What we could not confirm

- The exact Official Journal date of Regulation (EU) 2026/1744. The EUR-Lex page we opened showed the act date (8 July 2026) and its entry into force (27 July 2026), but not the publication date. Two secondary sources give 24 July 2026.
- Whether the UAE PDPL Executive Regulations have been issued since September 2026. Our two most recent secondary sources say they have not. One vendor blog mentions a "1 January 2027" compliance deadline, but we found no official source for it, so the pack does not rely on it.
- The full text of DIFC Regulation 10. The DIFC legal database page links the Regulations as a PDF, which we did not open. Our description relies on two law-firm summaries. Read the PDF before relying on any detail.